

Paul Campbell

Current

Doctors. Paul has been a regular writer on Doctors since 2007, writing over 75 episodes of the BBC One series.

"The White Queen", Paul's film noir episode of Doctors, was a critic's choice in The Sunday Times and Radio Times in 2008.

EastEnders – wrote seven episodes for BBC One soap.

Holby City - wrote two episodes for the BBC One hospital drama.

Casualty - wrote one episode for BBC One series.

Madhouse. Paul received a Wellcome Trust Broadcast Development Award to support the development of this spec TV drama series set in a nineteenth century mental health hospital.

The Communication of Cholera - factual drama on Dr John Snow and the 1854 cholera outbreak in Soho and Bloodline – conspiracy thriller, original TV ideas in development.

Small Brown Bird. Spec feature script. A romantic comedy, with twitchers.

Paul blogs very occasionally at scriptuality.blogspot.com, and Twitters from time to time as @TheCampbellMan.

Education

MA with honours of the First Class in Geographical Studies with Spanish University of St Andrews, 1985-1989

Previous Employment

Previous employment includes:

- FSA (The Financial Services Authority)
- OFTEL (Office of the Telecommunications Regulator)
- The European Commission
- MAFF (The Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food)

Representation

Paul is represented by FRANCES ARNOLD (frances@rochellestevens.com)

rochelle stevens & co.

020 7 359 3900
2 Terretts Place,
Upper Street,
London, N1 1QZ
www.rochellestevens.com